All summer long, we've had families in our backyard. Lots of families. We've heard kids running around, building tents, swimming in the pond, digging holes, putting up and taking down tents, wandering around in the woods, making bonfires, barbecuing, and playing in the sprinkler. We've made memories and enjoyed time together as a family. Now we're slowly getting back into our routines as the kids head back to school. We are all in need of quiet time to wind down. Looking at the kids ahead of me on the morning of August 9th, I realized that I was no longer going to be the one able to sneak away to read a book or a magazine or take a nap. I have two kids. I have to be a parent, after all. So, we are going to have to figure out a way to make those necessary "mommy" moments, while keeping the kids entertained. Here are a few ideas for creating opportunities for the kids to enjoy, and us to relax and unwind. EXERCISE One of the great things about being in the mountains is that you can get out and run a little. Here are a couple of nearby trails that provide a good opportunity for running, walking, or simply enjoying the outdoors. Cedar Flats
