examiner. Fiat Alfa Lancia 6.6 16 Year With the advent of the ZF Direct Ignition System, all power must go to the engine. All the components in the powertrain are interconnected, so it is important that they work together. The powertrains of two Fiat Alfa Romeo cars, the Fiat Alfa Romeo Spider and the Fiat Alfa Romeo Grifone, will be shown. They will be used to highlight the performance of the Fiat Alfa Romeo Spider and Fiat Alfa Romeo Grifone. When the Fiat Alfa Romeo Spider and Fiat Alfa Romeo Grifone were shown for the first time, the journalists of the magazine "Motor Trend" said that they were great vehicles and that it would be impossible to miss them at the Geneva Motor Show. The picture shows a close view of the Fiat Alfa Romeo Spider and Fiat Alfa Romeo Grifone. They are also some technical data about the cars. A Volkswagen Group company was founded in 1957 as a result of a merger of several German manufacturers. The original name of the company was "Volkswagen AG" and it was later renamed "Porsche AG" as a result of a series of transactions. It is a global manufacturer of luxury and mid-size luxury cars and light commercial vehicles and a motorsport company. In 1997, with the merger of the Volkswagen Group with the German company Audi AG, the company was renamed as "Volkswagen AG-Audi AG". The name of the company was later changed to "Volkswagen AG" again and then to "Volkswagen AG Volkswagen Aktiengesellschaft" ("VAG"), the abbreviation of the name. The company was incorporated in the Swiss canton of Zug and is also known as "Volkswagen-Koenig & Bauer AG" ("VKBA") because of a number of shares held by the family of the former chairman of Volkswagen AG. The company is known as "Volkswagen AG" to the public, while the legal name of the company is "Volkswagen Aktiengesellschaft" in Germany and "Volkswagen Aktiengesellschaft GmbH" in Austria, Switzerland, the United States and other countries.
