A: Rather than actually answering your question, I would strongly advise you to read the documentation (manual, documentation) of your video card. A full tutorial is written for Windows and is a little bit more simple, but should give you the idea. Tutorial: DIY Storing String Lights on a Wooden Board Have you always wanted to hang some string lights from the ceiling, but found that it can be a real hassle? Well, you don't have to worry anymore! We all love string lights, but don't know how to store them. If you know the basics of string lights, you will definitely know how to store them. Here, we will show you how you can easily store your string lights in a box that you can easily access. But this DIY tutorial is for those who haven't done any of this before. Step-by-Step Instructions This DIY is for those who don't have a home-made plastic storage box or a full plastic storage box. You can choose to make one from any kind of plastic, but if you aren't experienced in home-made plastic, we would recommend you to opt for the store-bought ones. Step 1: Take your wooden box, which is bigger than your box of lights. Cut the cardboard and put them inside the wooden box. Remember that you must be careful that you don't get the string lights tangled. Step 2: While you are doing this, you can also take your string light and hang them. Step 3: Tie the string to the top of the box and then put some wood glue over the joints. Step 4: Now, put the wooden box in the room you wish to hang them and hang the string lights from the ceiling. Step 5: Repeat the same process for every string light you have. This will definitely help you out to store all your string lights safely. Acting Homeland Security Secretary Kevin McAleenan said Friday that he expects Mexican cartels will likely begin to carry out acts of violence in the U.S. as the Trump administration pressures the Mexican government to curb their presence in the U.S. "I believe that U.S.-Mexico border security will get worse before it gets better, and
