Acronym key The acronym key (AKA) provides a mechanism to override the symbol key, meaning that the formatter can also be used for spelling out Acronyms. Benefits Acronym Key Benefits Applications: Acronym key support is the ability to quickly find the spelling of a word in an equation. When the equation is entered into a form, the acronym key may be used to search for the word in a list of abbreviations. For instance, instead of inserting the entire equation, the abbreviated form is easily identified and entered. The operator key is also used in calculations to produce a value that may be more easily entered into the calculation. Labeling: Preventing Overlap: The acronym key is useful when saving two lines that are touching each other. The acronym key allows the lines to not be overlapped by the user. Character Entry: The acronym key is an easily used method for entering the missing characters in a formula. Bob Futch's closing theme song, and maybe the most memorable of the only four Futch family members I know. Bob Futch was a working truck driver and owner of Futch Trucking in Missouri for many years. He passed away on July 14, 2012. His wife and business partner Gail died three years earlier. The two were special to me as they were the only generation of the Futch family I knew personally. Gail and Bob had two children and adopted a beautiful little girl, Kim. They adopted me in 1989, when I was 16. Bob Futch was a firm believer that nothing in life is a coincidence. He often told me the day he met me was special to him and he was determined to keep that spirit alive in me. When I was first assigned to his company, he taught me how to do my very first job, and he told me to "keep on truckin'!" When I worked there for four years, he kept his promise and I did become a truck driver. Bob never had a problem with homosexuality and thought I would have a good life, a good marriage, and a good family, but he was wrong. Instead, he was one of my most encouraging supporters throughout my lifetime. His love for Gail, his family and his friends did not change through the years, although some of the details of his life did. Gail and Bob passed away within a few years of each other. I had returned to Missouri, but I was not as close to Bob and Gail as I was to them in the early 1980s. I feel that when they passed, they both chose a good place and they have been waiting for me for 30 years. When I first became involved in the gay rights movement in the 1980s, I did not know about Bob Futch or Gail. I was a young, active, and progressive person. I never would have met them. Then I learned about them
