What's New In Ambient Nature Noise?

Ambient Nature Noise is a powerful noise generation tool to enrich your recordings with organic ambient sounds of nature. The plugin includes three main features that allow the users to create real outdoor, natural soundscapes: the 'echo' option which simulates a sound from far away, the 'ambience' option which simulates the sound of a real outdoors environment, and the 'noise' option which simulates the sound of nature and helps you to make your recordings sound more like they were made in a natural environment. How to use: - Set the input to 'echo' and 'ambience' or 'noise' according to the sound you need. - For the 'echo' and 'ambience' options, you need to change the 'distance' and the 'distance type' values. - To choose the sound, simply select the corresponding profile from the 'ambience' window. For more info see: - This is a plug-in plugin, and must be installed by the end-user. If you are using it in a DAW, remember to purchase a license for it. - To use the 'echo' or 'ambience' or 'noise' options, you need to enable the corresponding feature in the 'features' window. This feature can be found under the 'plugins' tab. Please note that, unless you have already purchased the plugin, you must contact the author at support@dome.org and send them an email in order to obtain a license key.
