This is a free application with the aim to allow anybody to send and receive secure messages within his local network. KeyMACRO (Key Management Application for Network) is a simple, user friendly and highly versatile software. KeyMACRO can be used as a one-way notification system where, on a users request, the sender is notified that he has a message waiting for him. The software can also act as a push-to-talk system where users have the opportunity to verbally communicate to each other. It also functions as a simple video conference system. To send a message, KeyMACRO has three modes: public, private and secret. A message can be sent to any user of the network, to a user or to a group of users. To receive a message, KeyMACRO has three modes: notification, contact and message. KeyMACRO has a built-in message delivery system and has two different user interfaces to support multiple output options. "Mode" depends on the "user" definition. 3 modes of usage: - Public: sent to any user of the network, the email address is required (users can subscribe to the public mailbox) - Private: sent to any user of the network, the email address is required (users can subscribe to the public mailbox) - Secret: the address of the recipient is not published, he is notified by keymacro 3 modes of sending: - Password protected: send the message only to the recipient if he knows the password - Public: send the message to the mailbox of the recipient - Private: send the message to the mailbox of the recipient - Secret: send the message to the mailbox of the recipient 3 modes of receiving: - Notification: received notification that he has a message - Contact: received message in the format of contact list - Message: received message in the format of file list The connection of the user to the network can be made by using the wired connection method (with the help of the attached hardware), or the wireless connection method (with the help of the on-line connection). The user can also have two different interfaces in one installation of the software. One interface is for the reception of messages (notification and contact), the other is for the sending of messages (private or secret). My WinPopup Express Crack Keygen is a lightweight and easy to use software, which is compatible with most 32 bits Windows versions. It doesn't depend on an installed server and it doesn't need 1d6a3396d6
