Popup Changer & Blocker is a powerful solution for hiding annoying popups, reminders, or notifications. It's an easy-to-use, integrated and standalone solution that makes popups, pop-ups and annoying windows a thing of the past. Buzof installs itself quickly and requires no additional software, no registry or system modifications, and no third-party.exe's to run. It has been tested on Windows XP, Vista and Windows 7. It does not require any installation, installation takes less than a minute. Makiej chyba nie ma uwiezienia czy ktos inny ma tego problem Thanks for you nice feedback. It looks like, you're confusing popups with new windows. Buzof is not an automatic popup blocker. It doesn't go to each popup on your screen and blindly remove it. It's a utility, which detects if a program is trying to show you a popup or a new window. If it's the latter, it simply kills the program. But if it's the former, it changes the program's behavior and runs a function that changes the behavior of all the popups. The program is very handy, and I highly recommend that you try it. I understand that you don't think that the utility can block all popups, but the fact is that it does. It does so by using a list of installed applications and the following function: "bypass":
function checkBypass(): tizenid | tizenid ||| (bypass)||()|(l) whereby: tizenid is an ID (UUID) of the program that you want to change its behavior. The ID can be found on the "About" window. returns a string (bypass) or nothing. if the value returned is "bypass", then the application gets "bypassed" and it's behavior will be changed. By default, the function always returns "bypass" and therefore, the application will not be able to show any popups. The only way to change the default behavior is to customize the program. If you're interested, we can do it for you. Or you can use the current form. By default, this form is really short, it's just for displaying popup, and it's very handy
