Keymacro is a great Windows password manager that allows you to encrypt files and passwords, keep them private, and even set them automatically. Keymacro protects your passwords in 3 ways. One-time passwords, hashed passwords, and auto-save. 1.

Password Hashing With Keymacro you can encrypt your passwords. When you're ready to use them, use the Keymacro password decryptor to decrypt them. You can also choose to use different password hashing algorithms when you encrypt your passwords to make them more secure. 2. One-time Passwords With Keymacro, you can generate an arbitrary amount of one-time passwords to replace the boring, easy to guess passwords that you might be using right now. 3. Auto Save With Keymacro, you can save a copy of your passwords and have them automatically opened and put into memory. This can help to keep your passwords safe, even when you can't be sure you won't lose them. Keymacro also keeps a copy of your passwords in an encrypted data file and allows you to encrypt and decrypt it with your master password. The encrypted data file can be stored on your computer, on a USB drive, on a network drive or even in Dropbox! Keymacro can manage as many as 128 passwords. Each password can be protected with one of your "hashed" passwords or you can use a one-time password to access the password with. You can also use all of the one-time passwords generated by Keymacro to access different passwords stored in different locations. Keymacro lets you create as many "hashed passwords" as you like. It's free, you can use as many as you like and your passwords are secure when you use one of them. All you need to do is put your master password into Keymacro and Keymacro will generate the hashed password and store it on your computer in a secure data file. Each hashed password can be used to access any of your passwords and a hashed password cannot be used to access another hashed password. Keymacro will give you a little counter on the bottom right of the screen to keep track of how many hashed passwords you have. Keymacro can also help you remember passwords because it will help you remember them. Using the "Master Password Assistant" you can choose a word that you can remember and Keymacro will make 1d6a3396d6
