Dale Partridge (Australian politician) Dale Partridge (born 12 November 1968) is an Australian Labor Party politician who has represented the electorate of Wentworth in the New South Wales Legislative Assembly since 2015. She is a former Mayor of the City of Blacktown. Early life Dale was born in Sydney, and was educated at Riverview High School. Her father was a union official, and she was a union organiser. Political career In 2014, Partridge was nominated to replace former member Chris Minns as the Labor Party candidate for the seat of Wentworth. She faced off against former Member for Darlington, David Borger. However, Borger was endorsed as the Labor candidate by the local branch of the Greens, and Labor did not nominate another candidate. Borger went on to win the seat. In February 2016, Partridge was elected as Mayor of the City of Blacktown.
