How to find the proper route for page of user's messages I'm getting all user's messages in node.js / Express. If there are multiple users I want to limit the number of displayed messages per page. I guess it's a simple filter on the logged in user's id, but I have no clue where to put this filter. A: You can create a session and store the 'userId' in the session and pass that in as a parameter along with the request. This will ensure that the filter will be only applied for that particular session. app.post('/message', function(req,res) { var id = req.session.userId; //This will be the userId you want to filter Message.find({userId:id}).sort({createdAt:1}).limit(100).findOne(function(err, msg) { //do something with the messages }) }) Metabolic effect of spironolactone on rat hearts.
