By Ralf Schemmann.St Andrew's Cathedral St. Andrew's Cathedral (also known as Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception) is a historic Catholic cathedral located at Mount Dora, Florida in Lake County, Florida. It was built in 1912 and is a brick Gothic Revival church. It is located across Old Highway 60 from Lake County Courthouse. On September 13, 1990, it was added to the U.S. National Register of Historic Places.

History It was erected at the intersection of County Road 52 and the old Belleview-East Orlando Road. A new road, now known as Old St. Andrews Road, was built about the same time. The present church, built by the Clermont

Construction Company, was dedicated July 25, 1912 by Bishop Victor Viator Schoenstatt, of the Diocese of Orlando. The cornerstone was laid April 25, 1911, and the church structure was completed and consecrated December 20, 1912. By 2012, 648931e174
