“After extensive play testing, we have worked closely with the studio and community to combine the most immersive and authentic gameplay in the series and we’re delighted with the results,” said Andrew McGill, Creative Director at EA SPORTS FIFA. Key gameplay elements: FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Next-gen game engine introduces a new animation system for players that creates more lifelike, high-fidelity animations. Players animate better, react to contact more naturally, and win more duels, tackles and aerial duels. In practice, this means longer and more reactive animations that feel more realistic. Play in any direction – your best move, your next move, will always be right there. No more thinking about a retreat while in-between defensive positions. Scratching the ball backwards will now behave as a normal step back, with accurate AI direction control. Pivoting and running backwards will always be as expected. New animations, play and feel of the ball, 5 new ball models, including the precise airflow and dampening of the ball. New visual details such as additional surface markings, unique logos and different color matching. New set of high-quality player celebrations, including new animations and poses. Three-dimensional, highly detailed ball physics that feels softer, even in the heaviest traffic. Reimagined ball rebound physics to provide more spectacular goal kicks and long-range set pieces. Fully-ranked cross-team online play with dedicated teams using unique teams and stadiums. This season’s new Create-a-Club Mode features the return of the classic “League” mode, “World Cup” mode, and “World League” mode. Over 550 new international player licenses, including additional leagues and national teams. The highly-anticipated FIFA 22 Team of the Year is also available with an in-game purchase feature. FIFA 22 is scheduled for worldwide release on September 28th for Xbox One and PlayStation 4, as well as PC via Origin. In partnership with Tait Towers, who has been the leading expert in the
