There are more than 1,100 in-game animations, more than twice as many as the previous game, with 50 new animations added for dribbling and 50 new animations for shooting. The "Bring It To Life" animation can be used to show off post-score celebrations, which will now look spectacular with all the animations included. There will also be a "Catch" animation, which will allow players to move their body in mid-air when they are heading or volleying a ball. The characters are more detailed in FIFA 22 and the player models are now rendered using physically-based rendering. Compared to FIFA 21, the characters have fuller, more lifelike facial expressions. The player models are also more detailed and there is a level of individual movement, especially in the lower body. All of the characters' heads are scanned and re-rendered. The new heads give players more detail in the facial features, and the movement is more natural and detailed. The ball physics technology includes more energy and dynamics. The ball does more spin and caroms in the air, which will help create more variety and intensity in gameplay, such as off-the-ball attacking moves, aerial balls and free kicks. "In preparation for the long New Year's Holiday, we took a short break to enjoy some well-deserved time off,” said Ian Darke, Executive Producer on FIFA. “As everyone can see, this holiday was great, so we’re really looking forward to our return to development in the New Year. Of course, this break also gave us the chance to focus on finishing up the smaller details that we have always tried to do on FIFA games, and these are what we’re able to show you today – the face scans, the new animations, the animations re-rendered in high-resolution, and the new movements that result from that.” Development also began on FIFA for the new next-generation consoles, the PS5 and the Xbox Series X. With the power of the new consoles, the team is excited to continue to push the boundaries of graphics and technology. More information about FIFA 22 is

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- Create and manage club teams, kits, stadium, style and much more.
  - New FIFA Ultimate Team (FUT) card collecting and trading features. "Master League" and "In-Game Live Trading" give you the power to quickly and easily build rosters of the players that matter most to you! Create your Ultimate Team through the new "Create Player" feature and watch them come to life right before your eyes. Line up your best FUT players using a rich digital fan-interaction feature, use the Director of Officiating (DoO) tool to issue your verdicts on your opponents' calls, and alter the shape, fluidity and color of your player's boots.
  - Master League - Trade and collect better cards. 50 Master League cards and around 300 more in-game cards are now available in packs or through the Web Shop, with new ways to get, trade and build your Masters League team.
  - In Game Live Trading - Interactive card interactions and real-life changes in card values. With the new In Game Live Trading, you can instantly spend cards that you have collected or would like to collect to earn more FUT tokens and gain more control over your FUT team, and trade freely to get the best possible cards of your current or future opponents.
  - Over 50 New Cards - Use brand new cards, such as new talent from the very top of the card pool like Neymar from Barcelona; Fortune FUT X-Factor cards; and new masks, boots, gloves, and much more in FIFA 22!
  - Many Small Improvements - Ever wondered how the sprint position would fit in the FUT AI engine. Wonder no more! With minor tweaks to sprinting, the sprinting engine goes from strength to strength.
  - Cool New Stadiums- Every year FIFA has fans that dream about the future of football as it is played today. From modern laser-guided explosions, lighting that pulses on your player's position in the box, and star-studded coach interviews, FIFA 22 has it all.
  - Shoot to Score - Video is king, with the power to make (or destroy!) this series of football matches. Whether it's utilizing the new Player Instincts - detailed animations and reactions based on player behaviors - to help you score or enhance your accuracy through the most authentic player movements in the game, shooting

FIFA is one of the world's best-selling sport simulation series and has sold over 450 million copies worldwide.

Developed by Electronic Arts (EA), the series puts you in control of an entire team, featuring real-world players from around the globe. FIFA consists of two main components: Online and EA SPORTS Season. Online gives fans access to all of FIFA's flagship modes on any platform, while EA SPORTS Season provides weekly content, such as the FIFA Ultimate Team and Live Events, that can be played on consoles, mobile devices or PC. Player Movement The ability to see and read the flight of the ball has been improved, with a new Reflex Shot Technology
that gives players more time to react and make better decisions on where and how to shoot. Reflex Shots can be targeted by changing the aim method to Auto or Manual (hold way the player is controlling the opponent. Accurate pass, pace and angles have more direct impacts on the play of the game. FIFA 22's Assist system is a new way to give players the power to create chances for their teammates by controlling the defender. Using the right stick, players can use Assist technology to initiate an Out of Bounds run that sends the ball on a direct path toward the player, or set up a cross from a pass on the ground. Interactive Goalkeepers The goalkeeper is no longer a passive player, and in FIFA 22 you can make better decisions to influence the quality of your saves.

Three key aspects of goalkeeping are included in FIFA 22's biggest overhaul to the goalkeeper: Kicking, Defensive Touch and Throwing. The improved Kicking/Defensive Touch system gives goalkeepers new tools to prevent goals. The Reversal Tackle and the Step Over Workaround can now be used to make better decisions when a goalkeeper has to race out of his area of influence. FIFA's new Throwing system adds another dimension to goalkeeping, which includes the ability to make decisions in the air and a new Deflection Penalty Kick feature. New Dribbling and
