the biggest challenge when sampling was how to get the 808 & 909 sample to work within ableton live. most tools create samples in a very uniform way, even though they affect the sound differently. the way i solved this was by using beat loops. i recorded my drums, then created a drum track by looping every kick-drum hit of every drum. in order to adjust the sound of this kit, i recorded the kit with the gain set to 18 on the sp-1200 for two different cassette processings. one track was recorded at track 1, the other track 2. i then asked the daw editor to select the sample that was on the left or right of the picture below. the process removed the sound of the snare, leaving only the kick drum. using a mixer, a compressor and a filter created a more vintage feel to the sound. it also made the kit easier to work with in ableton. once the drum samples were edited in a similar fashion, i combined them and were able to match the sounds of both drums. the dry drums were then added to a new drum kit, and automated through the sampler. i gave the new kit the name goldbaby, the name of the 808&809 sampled kits i released last year. a picture of this kit appears below. whether you need a late 80s pop vibe, with a set of desk samples, youre trying to create a west coast vibe with a80 tape samples, or youve flown smashed in a breakdown to spin the songs axis, this is a sample pack well worth the time. this package also includes 20 drum kits for kong, battery,maschine2,abletondrum rack and exs24. these sounds have been collected from 20 much sought-after drum machines. as per the point of this article, the focus is on the tr-707, which is one of the included 20 drum machines sampled for this collection. each sound has been recorded using high-quality equipment; such as the neve 1073 pre-amp and presented in five different sonic environments.

Goldbaby The Tape 909 Sample Pack Wav Download

these are drum samples processed through the distortion unit, after the a80 tape. this is the option that i favor the most, as it gives you a great mixture of the warmth of a tube amp and the kick of a dry drum machine. finally, the samples are loaded into the daw and are ready to be edited and tinkered with. the samples were recorded at 44.1k and were not pitch-shifted or time-stretched. to keep things authentic, the samples were edited to be exactly one bar long, at the same tempo as the original tracks. the drums are grouped into the two folders according to the preferred mode of the drum machine: the drums are organized by which drum kit they come from, giving you the ability to pick and choose from this huge collection of sounds. as well as the drum kit itself, the samples are also tagged with a ton of additional information. for instance, some of the kits come with drum grooves as well as midi swing templates and drum instrument patches. the collection has been tweaked for maximum usability and clarity. no chain has been removed. no raw kicks have been processed. no toms have been replaced by extra-fat snares. no cymbals have been thrown out of the mix. each drum has been picked for its individual sonic characteristics and the attention to detail is amazing. for a first-time sp-1200 sample pack, this is a magnificent collection. it even comes with the drum groove samples. below are the individual wav files for each instrument in the sample pack. these are intended for use in any sample or drum programming software. sample content includes: microphones - microphone recorded through a cassette tape drums - tr-707's drum kit organ - casio's original electric organ synth - roland juno 106's sound bank hardware - brass instruments hardware - woodwinds hardware - percussion hardware - fx 5ec8ef588b
